

Adverbs of frequency

Adverbs of Frequency are adverbs of time that answer the question "How frequently?" or "How often?". They tell us how often something happens. Here are some examples:

1. daily, weekly, yearly
2. often, sometimes, rarely

You probably see a difference between a) and b) above. With words like daily we know exactly how often. The words in a) describe definite frequency. On the other hand, words like: often give us an idea about frequency but they don't tell us exactly. The words in b) describe indefinite frequency.

We separate them into two groups because they normally go in different positions in the sentence.

Adverbs of Definite Frequency:

Examples:

- hourly, daily, weekly, monthly, yearly
- every second, once a minute, twice a year
- once, twice, once or twice, three times

Adverbs of definite frequency, like all adverbs of definite time, typically go in END position. Look at these examples:

- Most companies pay taxes yearly.
- She took her medicine every hour.
- The directors meet weekly to review progress.

Sometimes, usually for reasons of emphasis or style, some adverbs of definite frequency may go at the FRONT, for example:

- Every day, more than five thousand people die on our roads.

Adverbs of Indefinite Frequency:

Look at these examples of adverbs of indefinite frequency:

100% Always, constantly

usually, normally, frequently, regularly, often.

50% Sometimes

occasionally, rarely, infrequently, seldom, hardly, ever.

0% Never

Adverbs of indefinite frequency mainly go in MID position in the sentence. They go before the main verb (except the main verb "to be"):

- We usually go shopping on Saturday.
- I have often done that.
- She is always late.

Occasionally, sometimes, often, frequently and usually can also go at the beginning or end of a sentence:

- Sometimes they come and stay with us.
- I play tennis occasionally.

Rarely and seldom can also go at the end of a sentence (often with "very"):

- We see them rarely.
- John eats meat very seldom.
